

Spring 2018 #500beesbugsbutterflies
Polli:nation Project

The theme of this year's World Book Day at Sandfield Close was Bees Bugs and Butterflies. We encouraged the children to make their own costumes and we weren't disappointed.

The Lunchtime staff worked tirelessly to create an amazing hall display. It really did look amazing.

Miss Eames explained to us in assembly how important pollinators were. How most of our fruits are pollinated by insects.

We invited parents in to have a special lunch with us so they could see all the lovely decorations. Raj and AliRaza from year 4 helped organise a quiz around school. Eco Club have been busy putting together 450 packets of wildflower seed packets as part of our Polli:Promise – a promise to scatter them somewhere local to grow.

These are just some of the amazing costumes, badges, wings that children made for our #500BeesBugsButterflies Day. Even the teachers joined in. Lots of people asked why Miss Eames was a bat. But they loved all the ladybirds.
